The Rhode Island Office of Healthy Aging (OHA) is working closely with the Rhode Island Department of Health and Rhode Island Emergency Management Agency to coordinate the state's response to coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19). Older Rhode Islanders and individuals with underlying conditions are at higher risk of severe COVID-19 illness. Governor Raimondo and the Rhode Island Department of Health are encouraging our higher-risk populations to practice social distancing during this time and use technology, whenever possible, to remain in touch with family and friends.

If you are part of this higher-risk population, or caring for someone who is, please contact our healthy aging helpdesk, Point, at 401.462.4444 with questions or to learn about resources available to you. Ensuring our elders and those in need have access to food and other critical resources at this time is a special concern; OHA is working closely with communities and many partners to help. Below is a current contact list of senior centers and other local agencies available to assist older adults around the state (click the city name to access its website):

Tips during this time:
- Stay home whenever possible
- Limit in-person interaction with other people
- Wash your hands often
- Call the doctor if you are feeling sick
- Call the Point if you need help with food or other resources
